

Organizations

Cornucopia Institute

P.O. Box 826

Viroqua, Wisconsin 54665

cultivate@cornucopia.org

A watchdog within the organic industry, working to protect the character of the organic standards while auditing the integrity of products bearing the organic seal. The Cornucopia Institute researches, issues, and promotes findings, based in science, that are fundamental to maintaining the integrity of organic labeling, production, processing, and marketing. Produces scorecards to find the best sources for beef, poultry, dairy, grains and eggs along with scorecards to help you avoid hydroponically grown organic food, carrageenan in organic food, and more.

Green Earth Harvest

The Conservation Foundation

10S404 Knoch Knolls Rd.

Naperville, IL 60565

<https://theconservationfoundation.org/green-earth/>

Farm Shares, education, and much more.

Misfits Market

<https://www.misfitsmarket.com/>

Works directly with farmers and food producers to source organic produce, high-quality meats and seafood, sustainable pantry staples, and other groceries that might otherwise go to waste and deliver them to you at up to 40% off grocery store prices. Almost a third of what's grown in the U.S. never gets harvested because it doesn't meet the superficial standards of a traditional grocery store. Because we work closely with farmers and food makers, we know just how much food is going to waste every single day. Free membership, no commitment.
